Overview

It is designed to meet the needs of those who possess a tertiary qualification intending to pursue teaching profession but do not hold any nationally-recognized teaching qualification.

According to Education Act 1996, no person shall teach in an educational institution unless he or she is registered as a teacher by the Registrar General. In short, PGDT enables aspiring teachers to attain qualified teacher status.

To equip educators in private schools and colleges with pedagogical knowledge and skills for their professional practice

OUM is the leading local university offering the program through open and distance learning (ODL).
